Dear Representative Maloney:

I am writing on behalf of the more than 11,000 members of the Sergeants Benevolent Association of New York City to advise you of our continued strong support for H.R. 3543, the "James Zadroga 9/11 Health and Compensation Act."

The heinous terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, changed our city and our nation in countless ways. No New Yorker is without some reminder of the devastation unleashed on 9/11—the missing colleague at roll call, the empty seat at the dinner table—nor will we ever forget the sacrifice made by so many of our fellow citizens. For those of us who responded to the attacks, and who spent countless hours engaged in the rescue and recovery efforts at Ground Zero, we did so with the knowledge that our work there might have a profound impact on our long-term health. Unfortunately, we have only just begun to see in our fellow officers and citizens the signs of just how right we were. The death of Detective James Zadroga in January 2006—the first 9/11 responder to have his death directly attributed to exposure to the toxins at Ground Zero—was a stark reminder of the health effects that potentially hundreds of thousands of our fellow New Yorkers will face in the years ahead.

The legislation you have introduced is critically important to ensuring the continuation of the Federal government's role in caring for those whose health was directly impacted by the 9/11 attacks. Specifically, this bill will provide for long-term medical monitoring and treatment for the first responders who labored at Ground Zero through the creation of a World Trade Center Health Program within the National Institute for Occupational Safety & Health. It will also reopen the September 11th Victims

Compensation Fund to those who did not file before, or became ill after, the original December 22, 2003, deadline, allows a reevaluation of certain claims, and amends the eligibility rules to cover additional first responders. Finally, the bill will ensure the continuation of research into the diagnosis and treatment of 9/11 health-related conditions, and the adequacy and coordination of care for victims. In so doing, it honors the sacrifice that so many of our fellow officers continue to make for carrying out their sworn duty to protect and serve on that fateful day.

The SBA has been proud to support your longstanding efforts to enact this critically important legislation, and we are grateful for your strong leadership on behalf of our nation's first responders. Please do not hesitate to contact me at (212) 226-2180 if I can be of any further assistance.

Sincerely,
